What's New at Zanzibar

by Scott Allen
Co-editor

There seems to be a big controversy these days at Zanzibar, Mansfield University's non-alcoholic dance bar. The controversy is over who is in charge of scheduling acts, running the actual bar and who has control over the nights. Before going on though it is important that the following facts are known:

1. Clarence Crisp has the original "Zanzibar" idea.
2. Sisters of Social Service (Tri-Sigs) are founded in the fall semester of 1984 as a Social Service organization.
3. Tri-Sigs start and supply manpower to run Zanzibar with some student activities funds in February 1985. Tri-Sigs have run Zanzibar almost solely for two years.
4. Beta Rho Omicron founded in the summer of 1986.
5. Tri-Sigs have in the past booked or been in charge of all nights at Zanzibar.

Before I wrote this article I interviewed six people. They are: Patty Schwartz, President of Tri-Sigs; Brian White, President of Beta Rho Omicron; Clarence Crisp, Director of Student Activities and Advisor to Beta Rho Omicron; Mary Beth and Kevin Eggleston, Advisors to Tri-Sigs; and Joseph Maresco, Vice-President of Student Affairs. The most important thing to remember is that Zanzibar provides an alternative to fraternity parties, consumption of alcoholic beverages and residence life at Mansfield University.

In my interview with Patty Schwartz, I learned some interesting facts.

Flashlight: Who has run Zanzibar for the past two years?

P.S.: Sisters of Social Service have solely run Zanzibar for two years. Sisters of Social Service have gotten Zanzibar totally out of the red on the books.

Flashlight: Does Tri-Sigs earn any money from the bar Zanzibar?

P.S.: Tri-Sigs are a non-profit, service organization and any money earned from bar goes back into bar.

Flashlight: How do you feel about a Management Committee?

P.S.: My outlook is not good on a Management Committee.

Flashlight: Do you feel that the Administration is helping you any?

P.S.: The Administration is listening, but not helping. Tri-Sigs have four committees set-up to run Zanzibar that are separate from the regular business of Tri-Sigs.

Patty and I had a good interview and I feel that Patty is trying to do the best for Zanzibar. The next person I interviewed was Clarence Crisp.

Flashlight: What is the most important aspect of this controversy?

C.C.: The most important aspect is that Zanzibar continues to provide an alternative.

Flashlight: What is Beta Rho Omicron using the money they raise from Zanzibar for?

C.C.: The Primary goal is a Minority Student Scholarship fund.

Flashlight: Do you feel the need for a management board?

C.C.: Yes. To set regulations, but remain flexible. There are other Zanzibars out there, but this is one of the few that is student run.

Brian White, President of Beta Rho Omicron had the following things to say when I interviewed him.

Flashlight: What do you feel is the most important issue of Zanzibar?

B.W.: That Zanzibar provides an alternative entertainment to fraternity parties.

Flashlight: What are your feelings on a Management Committee?

B.W.: I would like to see what rules and regulations are proposed before I make a judgment. If the rules stay the same as the present ones I see no problem.

Flashlight: Would you allow other organizations to hold an event at Zanzibar with your organization?

B.W.: Yes. We would do a fund raiser with another organization.

My next interview was with Mary Beth and Kevin Eggleston, advisors to Tri-Sigs.

South Hall Mall In Final Stages

by Corby Woodling
Co-editor

The South Hall Mall project, which was started as a dream about two years ago by a group of students and faculty, is in its final stages and ready to be taken off the drawing board. The purpose of such a mall on campus is to give Mansfield University a central location. The project has, however, gone through several changes.

Dr. Larry Nesbit, chairman of the project, said the planning process is still continuing and several important events have happened since last semester.

The cost of the project has risen. The South Hall Mall was to cost around $80,000, said Nesbit, but more recent estimates from DGS, the Department of General Services, have the project estimated at around $135,000.

As is the case with anything, money proved to be a stumbling block for the mall. Originally, said Nesbit, both CCSI, College Community Services, and the Board of Trustees of the University agreed to contribute $40,000 each for the mall. When Dr. Nesbit went to the respective groups with the monetary problem, a solution was soon reached.

On February 2nd, said Nesbit, the Board of Trustees and CCSI decided to up their contribution $20,000 each for a combined total of $120,000. Nesbit said this is a realistic cost for the mall and that the bids should come in less.

On February 3rd, Vice President of Finance and Operation Youst and Dr. Nesbit went to DGS on to see if each parties new interpretations of the project were similar. Every detail must be made on the plans including light wattages so there was plenty of room for misinterpretation. This proved not to be the case. "Everything we asked for was in there," said Nesbit.

Several architectural changes have also taken place, the most obvious of these being the actual surface of the mall. Nesbit said the planning group

Flashlight: Who started the Zanzibar idea?

M.B. & K.E.: The concept was from the Student Activities office. The groundwork and manpower came from Tri-Sigs.

Flashlight: Who runs the actual bar at Zanzibar?

M.B. & K.E.: Tri-Sigs staff the bar on all nights.

Flashlight: What are Tri-Sigs primary goals?

M.B. & K.E.: They are: 1) Provide services for both the University and the Community; 2) To strengthen the relations between campus and community organizations.

Flashlight: Is there anything else you'd like to add?

M.B. & K.E.: That it seems the whole argument is Zanzibar and Tri-Sigs.

I interviewed Mr. Maresco last and I feel that his interview answered many questions.

Flashlight: What do you feel the problem is?

Mr. Maresco: There seems to be a premature over-reaction and guidelines are in the formation.

Flashlight: What has caused some of the problems?

Mr. Maresco: Last summer's success and the ongoing success of last semester. The level of success caused a need to develop written guidelines.

Flashlight: Are there any guidelines for social service organizations?

Mr. Maresco: They have not been established, but there will be guidelines for social service organizations. In the past there didn't seem to be a need, but now there have been several requests and it needs to be defined.

Flashlight: Does Student Government Association have the right to intervene?

Mr. Maresco: Yes, because Zanzibar is funded by Student Activities monies. They can get involved as a sounding board and make a recommendation.

Flashlight: Who's office does Zanzibar come under?

Mr. Maresco: The office of Student Activities which Clarence Crisp is in charge of.

Flashlight: Is there anything you'd like to add?

Mr. Maresco: There is no question, the University has a large debt to Tri-Sigs. The possibility of a management board is not meant in any way that there would be a Zanzibar without Tri-Sigs. I understand the sensitivity, but you can't negate other organizations.

Before closing I would like to re-emphasize the fact that Zanzibar provides an alternative to alcoholic consumption. This article was written to bring some light to the subject and not to take sides. There are many unanswered questions. Who should run Zanzibar? What constitutes a "Social Service" organization? What say does the average student have in this? Is a management committee the best answer? rules do need to be set up to run Zanzibar. They should be fair to all and flexible. A big thank you goes out to the six people that I interviewed for their time and cooperation.

Zanzibar Update

by Scott Allen
Co-editor

On Monday, February 23 at 9:30 p.m. the Student Government Association held its weekly meeting, but this week there was going to be a major discussion. As I entered the room I could feel the tension in there as both sides prepared for the debate. Mark Feil, the S.G.A. President, asked for a half hour discussion period for the so-called "Zanzibar Issue." The discussion period really did not solve anything, except that there really is not anything to discuss. The following key points were made clear at the meeting:

- Mr. Maresco: Zanzibar is signed out in Student Activities Office and Zanzibar is the property of the Student Activities Office. In the past Zanzibar was just signed out by Tri-Sigs, but that is changed now due to increased interest.

- The Advisory Board will be made up of two people from the following organizations: Tri-Sigs, Beta Rho Omicron and WNTU. Clarence Crisp will advise the group and there is a possibility that S.G.A. will have a representative.

- Still need guidelines for Social Service organizations.

- The Advisory Board would control other nights that are open at Zanzibar.

- The guidelines are still in the draft stage and before Spring Break they (organizations involved) will sit down to discuss them. Hopefully in one to two months the guidelines will be finished.

I was not impressed with the meeting. Both sides and everyone else it seems has forgotten what Zanzibar is: an alternative to Fraternity parties, alcoholic consumption in general, and a positive addition to student life at Mansfield University. To make things worse everyone seems to be attacking Beta Rho Omicron.

In closing I hope that all parties involved work together on the guidelines and that the guidelines are fair to all organizations involved. Also that these guidelines and the Advisory Board make for a stronger Zanzibar in the future. Unfortunately my first article went to print before I could add or change it after this meeting. I think that Kevin Eggleston said it best: "Time to resolve issues as soon as possible, finish the guidelines and get back to running Zanzibar."

Library Relocation Causes Unrest

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

There has been mixed support on campus regarding the relocation and consolidation of the university library system into North Hall. Opposition appears to stem mainly from patrons of Butler and Retan libraries.

According to Frances Seaborn, education librarian, even though consolidation would combine some material now separated, such as child developmental information, the education resources would be less accessible for education faculty and students. Seaborn said, "Education majors and faculty can conveniently use the (Retan) library between classes, because it is close."

Holly Gardinier, music librarian said that removing the music library from Butler would be "a detriment to the primary users." She said, "students or faculty can run in quickly between classes or while practicing."

However, both Seaborn and Gardinier stated that consolidation would alleviate the problem of space now felt by all three libraries. In Retan, the problem of space is such that some of the library's resources have been relocated to an overflow room. Seaborn said that she has weeded the book stacks in order to shelve new books — taking out old editions and multiple copies.

According to Jeanine Buzzard, music education major and reference assistant at the main library, relocation would make the music library resources closer to the dorms even though it would be harder to use during the day between classes. A second student, Andrea Schubert, music education major added, "I know a lot of people that stay away from Butler... they think that's where soupies hang out." According to Larry Nesbit, library director, "there will be a change in perception as to who can use Butler."

Nesbit also said that he does not expect less staff if consolidation would occur. Because of Mansfield's great emphasis on media, "we are almost committed to two circulation desks," according to Nesbit. He continued, "as the university raises its standards, our use will naturally go up."

According to one librarian, "better library coordination and communication will mean better service."

South Hall Mall

wanted a kind of cobblestone or cement with little pebbles to floor the mall but it was suggested that because of Mansfield's climate, something else be used. Freezing and thawing of the ground would cause cracking of the surface, said Nesbit.

It was agreed that 'pavers' were the best choice. The idea, taken from a similar mall project in Montreal, would benefit the project in several ways, said Nesbit. These 'pavers' are a kind of cement slab that come in many different textures and colors and they will even be removable. This will be an advantage if steam or utility lines break underneath the parking lot. Previously it was thought that the cobblestone surface would have to be taken up if any lines needed replaced or repaired.

Nesbit said another architectural feature added is an additional deck. This second of two large surface areas would be close to the southern tip of Manser Hall and serve as a huge gathering area for future outdoor activities as well as a nice gathering area, said Nesbit. A wooden podium may be added for announcements or posters. This deck is similar to the one which will be closer to South Hall.

Each deck is approximately $10,000 so if the project is running a little over cost, one of the decks may be cancelled.

Nesbit said the plans for the mall will be ready for bid by mid-March and the actual bid date March 30th. Although the work is a little behind, he expects the award for the bid to remain April 30th and actual construction to begin early in May. The project said Nesbit is "finally going to be a reality" and will be finished by August 1987 in time for the next fall semester.

When asked how he felt about the project, Nesbit said "it was nice to be part of something like this on campus." It's good to look past the everyday hustle and bustle of college life and "look for the long distance goals making the campus better for everyone."

The real beauty in the project, said Nesbit, is that the "students and Trustees worked together to make it happen."

Resurgence in Phi Beta Lambda

by Patrick Page
Staff Reporter

The Mansfield University chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, the business fraternity, is starting the spring semester '87 off with a bang or at least a ring.

On Monday, Feb. 16, ten members of Phi Beta Lambda participated in the Mansfield Foundation annual phone-a-thon. Phones available, limited the number of Phi Beta Lambda participants and some had to be turned away at the door. This is typical of the fraternities mood this semester.

Headed by president Matthew Wood the fraternity is undertaking many projects.

The take-over of a Retail Marketing class project is in the works. This would mean that Phi Beta Lambda would be operating a t-shirt and sweatshirt sales and distribution service. This would allow members of the fraternity to bridge classroom knowledge with hands on business experience, as well as provide a viable commodity for all students. A major roadblock, however, is space for the fraternity to set up shop. The University, thus far, has been apathetic to the needs of the organization. This won't stop these enthusiastic future business leaders.

Another project that is in full blown production stages is a career day to be held April 8, 1987.

This will be a chance for everyone to hear professionals speak on a wide variety of positions in today's business world.

The new pledge class of Phi Beta Lambda is starting soon. One new member says, "It's a great way to get experience and insights that will help us to someday get a job."

ARHC Active at MU

by Pat Porro
Staff Reporter

All Residence Hall Council (ARHC) each of the residence halls are once again sponsoring several activities for the MU campus this semester.

The ever-popular Air Band Competition, sponsored by ARHC, will take place February 26 at 9:15 in the Rec Center. Prizes for contestants are as follows: first — $70.00; second — $40.00; third — $25.00; fourth — $15.00. There will be a 50¢ admission for all spectators.

Pinecrest Hall Council is planning the biggest raffle MU has ever seen. For a mere $10, a person has the chance to win free tuition, room and board for one semester, or $2,000.00 in cash. Only 300 tickets will be sold, so contact a Pinecrest Hall Council member soon to buy your tickets!

On a smaller scale, each hall council sponsors food sales on Monday nights, and uses the profit money for supplies and projects to benefit the hall. Support your hall council and their events!

Food Service Contract Goes Up For Bid

by Corby Woodling
Co-editor

An important topic of any college discussion is the good in the cafe. The usual complaint is it's always either too cold, too runny, or too ugly (the food is never that bad and sometimes even very good). Whatever your position, this year will prove important for your livelihood. The food service contract is up this semester and several changes may be on the way.

According to Bob Gordon, Food Service Director, the food contract goes up for bid this semester. As with previous university policy, Gordon said, the food contract was placed out to bid every ten years but from now on will be up for bid every five years. This five year plan will be a one year contract with four renewals as long as both parties are satisfied.

The university is currently with the Service America Corporation said Gordon. Service America was formerly called Servomation. The deadline for bids is February 25th and on April 3rd, Vice President Maresco and a food service consultant will make the final decision. Presently there are about ten companies with varying advantages that have expressed an interest in the bid. Gordon said whoever wins the contract will be starting June 1st during the summer session. The winner must agree to the basic standard contract that all state schools have and furthermore fulfill the additional needs and wishes of Mansfield University.

A few noticeable changes could include a difference in price of the meal ticket but according to Gordon, the price won't change drastically for most students. A new feature on a few of the bids include an alternate food plan. This new plan if implemented would include the students choice of 19, 15, 10, or 5 meals a week. This plan could save several groups of students money. For example, those rare few who go home on weekends could purchase the 15 meal a week plan and purchase a less expensive meal ticket. The only drawback to the multi-meal plan, said Gordon, is if the student decides to stay for the weekend, they must pay for the meals they eat.

The quality of the food itself will probably remain the same whoever the victor, said Gordon, although some good changes were likely to happen. As for the specifics of the improvements, only time will tell. The winner of the food service contract wins the university and the students win the new contractor's services.

If you would like to get involved in the deciding vote or have an opinion or idea, either write the FLASHLIGHT at 217 Memorial Hall or get involved in another group taking an active participation in the students well being.

Times are approximate and subject to change according to ridership and work schedules. For more information, call the Endless Mountains Transportation Authority at 1-800-242-3484.

Weibley to Perform Tuba Recital

Mansfield University music student Kevin Weibley will present a senior tuba recital Saturday, February 28 at 7 p.m. in Steadman Theatre.

Weibley, a senior music education major at MU, studies tuba with Donald Stanley, MU professor of music. He is a member of the Concert Wind Ensemble, Concert Choir, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and the Sinfonia Brass Quintet.

Weibley will perform works by Mozart, Ross, Muscynski and Stevens. He will be accompanied by MU students Debra Gerhard, senior mathematics major and Betty Ann Theobald, sophomore music education major.

The recital is free and open to the public.

Broadway Comes To Mansfield

The hilarious comedy "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," will be presented at Mansfield University March 4-7 at 8 p.m. in Straughn Auditorium. The play opened on Broadway in 1962, starring Zero Mostel, Jack Gilford and John Carradine. It was revived on Broadway in 1972 with Phil Silvers and Nancy Walker.

Playgoers will be in for several surprises as this musical blends the absurdities of Latin comedy and the zany nonsense of vaudeville into a madcap romp of a show.

The story takes place in Rome, 200 years before the Christian era and concerns the connivings of the slave Pseudolus, to achieve his freedom. His young master, Hero, promises to grant Pseudolus freedom if the slave can obtain beautiful Philia. The problem is that Hero has only seen her through an open window.

From here the entire cast is involved in the mounting confusion as this side-splitting comedy unwinds. Filled with numbers ranging from witty patter songs to ballads, the show promises to provide the audience with a merry, mirthful — sometimes riotous time.

Starring in the MU production are Jim Dixon, a senior theatre major from Mansfield, as Pseudolus, Scott Ripley, a sophomore music major, as Hero, Barbara Tsontakis, a junior music education major, as Philia, and Hysterium, chief of slaves, played by Harold Mortimer of Mansfield.

Others in the production are Jonathan Uffelman, Mansfield; Kathy Beish, Camp Hill; Anthony Leukus, New Cumberland; Sean Fox, Covington; Brian Berry, Wellsboro; Lea Bodine, Wellsboro; Dale Lawson, Wharton, NJ; Susan Bogart, Blossburg; Julie Smith, Richfield Springs, NY; Shelly Crippen, Phillipsburg, formerly of Mansfield; Darris Hall, Wyalusing; Barry Savitz, Easton; Jeff Smith, Corning, NY; and Andy Blais, Wellsboro.

Play director and designer is Michael Crum, assistant professor of speech, communications and theatre. Assistant to the director is Susan Oughterson, MU freshman home economics major from Horseheads, N.Y. Music director is Joseph C. Crupi, recently retired music director from Horseheads High School and choreographer is Margaret Frawley, former instructor of speech, communications and theatre. Pianist for the production is Stephen Fox, MU junior music education major from Harrisburg.

Admission to the production is $4 for general admission and $2 for students, children and senior citizens. Phone (717) 662-4781 for information on group rates.

Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The concert will feature arrangements of jazz standards plus some original compositions by members of the band. Some of the works to be performed include "A Night in Tunisia," by D. Gillespie, "Easy to Love," by C. Porter, "Killer Joe," by B. Galsen, and "Give It A Shot," an original composition by band member Mark Appiott, MU senior music education major from Philadelphia, PA.

At the Movies with CORB

by Corby Woodling
Co-editor

MAC has been playing really excellent titles so far this semester and their next two movies are no different.

"About last night," starring Rob Love and Demi More (Emilio Estruz's fiancé), is about love triangles and the troubles one can get into. The story taken from a famous book, centers around the escapades of the youngsters and keeps the audience on its toes.

Although a little slow at times, "About Last Night" was a hot film of the summer and has enough steamy and funny scenes to please any movie goer. "About Last Night" merits an 8 on Corb's Scale from 1 to 11 and will be shown February 28th and March 1st at 8 p.m. in Allen Hall. Tickets are $1.00 with stamped I.D. and $2.50 without.

On March 21st and 22nd, MAC brings a little style from "Down Under" to Mansfield University with "Crocodile Dundee."

"Crocodile Dundee" was a big summer hit and stars Paul Hogan. Hogan is a famous talk show host and now beer sponsor, from overseas.

The story centers around a reporter going to Australia to get a story on a crocodile killer and what she finds is Hogan, a kind of simple showman. The plot moves quickly when she brings the country boy to the city and has enough comedy yet simpleness to captivate the audience.

On Corb's scale "Crocodile Dundee" rates a 10. Check it out on March 21st and 22nd at 8 p.m. in Allen Hall.

"Stand by Me," being shown March 28th and 29th, could be one of the best movies of the year.

The story taken from the Stephen King short story "The Body," sends the audience on a voyage back to a simpler time and place and lets them enjoy every minute of this movie. I highly recommend this film to anyone because it has something for everyone. See it.

The soundtrack, still in Billboard's top 40, contains big hits from the late 50's, early 60's and sets the mood perfectly for this classic portrait of the simplicity of youth and friendship.

On the Corb Scale from 1-11, "Stand by Me" rates very high with a 10½. See this superb movie on March 28th and 29th, 8 p.m. in Allen Hall. Admission is $1.00 with valid I.D. and $2.50 without. You'll leave singing the theme song and wanting more.

Mansfield University Forensics

by Deborah Baran
Staff Reporter

The Mansfield University forensics team began the semester with a successful outing at the West Chester University Colonial Novice Tournament on Feb. 6th and 7th. Overall the team finished 2nd among 16 schools from NY, PA, NJ, WV and MD.

Competing at the tournament were Pam Kuvuka, Colleen Kett-rich, Trisha Grzech, Tim Murphy, Christina Baldo, Ashok Jagasia and Joseph Grier.

Bringing home awards were: Ashok Jagasia, 1st place (After Dinner Speaking), 1st place (Persuasion), 2nd place (Informative); Trisha Grzech, 3rd place (Poetry), 5th place (Prose); Colleen Kettick, 5th place (After Dinner Speaking); Joseph Grier, 5th place (Poetry); Pam Kuvuka, 3rd place (Informative) and Christina Baldo, 4th place (Persuasion).

Deb Baran and Todd Gabello also attended the tournament as student judges.

Second year coach, Ken Musselman was pleased with the success of the team: "Our team looks better every semester and strong performances by these beginners makes the future look bright for Mansfield University forensics. Under Todd Gabello's enthusiastic leadership as president this year we've grown."

The team will be traveling to other tournaments this semester and will have representatives competing at the national tournament in Mankato, Minnesota in April.

Murray Re-elected As Chairperson

Dennis Murray, professor of psychology and coordinator of the Rural Services Institute at Mansfield University has been re-elected chairperson of the Pennsylvania Rural Coalition for 1987.

The Pennsylvania Rural Coalition is a nonprofit organization interested in preserving and improving life for the rural residents of Pennsylvania. Murray said the goal of the coalition is to strengthen rural PA by promoting community and economic development in rural areas. One way of doing this is to generate increased opportunities for human development for rural residents, he said.

"The coalition holds informative and policy-oriented conferences on rural issues," Murray explained. It also researches legislative and policy initiatives that have an impact on rural Pennsylvania.

"The prosperity and strength of rural communities is grounded in the networks of support and interdependence that bind those communities together," Murray said. He is concerned that negative economic pressures for change, such as the current farm crisis, unplanned economic growth, and shifts in rural economic activity will weaken many rural communities.

Murray came to Mansfield University in 1978. He received his B.A. degree in psychology from Syracuse University in 1970, his M.A. and Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the University of Rochester in 1974 and 1975 respectively.

Gordon Receives Social Service Award

by Jackie Moyer
"Tri-Sigma"

We, "Tri-Sigma", as a Social Service Organization, would like to recognize and congratulate Bob Gordon as the recipient of the Social Service Award for 1986.

This award is presented to a faculty member or administrator for his or her outstanding contributions to the campus and community. Dee Bernhardt, Dr. James Carlson, and Bob Gordon were the three selected candidates for this award. Of these, Bob was chosen as the recipient.

Bob grew up in Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon graduating from Carlynton High School, he continued his education at Clarion University where he received his Bachelor of Science in Accounting and then returned to receive his MBA. While attending Clarion Bob worked in the dining hall at the University.

After graduating from Clarion, Bob worked as the Assistant Director at Bloomsburg University. In January of 1982 he began working here at Mansfield University as the Food Service Director in Manser Dining Hall.

When Bob is not busy here at the University working in the Dining Hall or helping the students, he finds time to enjoy many outdoor activities. Some of which include cross-country skiing, fishing, hunting, and riding motorcycles. He also plays on a Co-ed Volleyball Team here at the University.

Thank you Bob for all the time and help you've given all the organizations here at Mansfield. We are truly fortunate to have a man like Bob Gordon on the staff here at our University.

Blood Shortage

by Bob Williams
Staff Reporter

A severe blood shortage has been declared for the 21 county area served by the Red Cross Blood Services, Northeast Pennsylvania Region.

Speaking for the organization, Executive Director Anthony Drombroski said, "We have an extreme situation here, our blood supply has dropped from a normal 5 day reserve to the current 1½ day supply. What this means is that any sudden increase in the demand for blood could completely exhaust our supplies for the 1½ million people we serve. All blood types are at critical levels, one indication of this situation is that even type A+ is at emergency levels, that is something I have not seen in years."

This is the first time in 15 months that a shortage has been declared. For the month of January so far, the Red Cross has collected only 218 units per day, rather than the required 420 units. Our supplies have been hurt by a combination of factors," continued Mr. Dombroski, "and the recent snowstorm and cold weather has not encouraged the donors to come out. Winter is always an extremely bad time for blood collections. We don't like to sound the alarm this way, but concern for the community's health forces us to do so."

The American Red Cross cautions donors that delays may be experienced at blood drives and asks for patience.

For the year beginning July 1 Red Cross has faced a short fall of 9% over last year. The Blood Center stated only 3 persons out of every 100 area residents shoulder the burden of providing the entire blood supply for our region.

Any individual who weighs 110 lbs. or more between the ages of 17 and 75 who is in good health may give blood.

Upcoming donations will be held in Tioga County as follows: Mansfield University drive — April 8th.

MDA Superdance

by Pat Porro
Staff Reporter

You heard about it on the radio. You read about it on posters. On February 20, All Residence Hall Council (ARHC) sponsored the Superdance in the Rec Center from 6 pm to midnight to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Mansfield University and ARHC did this campus proud by handily defeating Lock Haven University in the competition to see who could raise the most money for Jerry's Kids. The people on this campus raised $1530 for MDA!

With the help of Sandy Borischak, District Director of MDA, ARHC planned and completed one of its most successful and most profiting fundraisers for any charity.

Karen LeCates, Chairperson of ARHC, said, "On behalf of ARHC, I would like to express my appreciation to all who participated. The Superdance was evidence of the fact that this campus can pull together for a worthwhile cause. Next year I hope to see an even greater turnout."

Thanks to all and congratulations MU!!

EDITORIAL

As you probably have noticed, the Flashlight has not been under normal operations for the past three semesters. The reasons for this have been several fold.

Past mismanagement started the decline of the Flashlight. The decline was further compounded by the lack of our own equipment.

The future of the Flashlight looks bright. We are currently having our typesetting done by outside sources and are in the process of purchasing new equipment. We plan on publishing every three weeks until the arrival of the new system, at which time we will be going back to publishing every week forever more.

The new system will enable the Flashlight to publish as never before seen at Mansfield University. If you would like to be part of this exciting future our regular meetings are every Thursday at 12:30 in room 204 Memorial and/or at 7:00 in room 217 Memorial. No experience is necessary and help in all areas is needed. The next issue of the Flashlight will be March 26.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A topic of major concern that affects everybody, which has surfaced recently, is the changeover of Zanzibar management. From talking to various students and from attending an informal discussion, which Mr. Crisp attended, I have learned that Zanzibar is being taken away from its current source of management and being given to new management.

There are several things about this which concern me. First of all, I do not understand why Zanzibar is being taken away from The Sisters of Social Service, Tri-Sigma, who currently run it. Have there been problems with Tri-Sigma running it? My understanding is that Tri-Sigma set up Zanzibar for the students to be a non-profit alternative to drinking, and that whenever any organization desired to use Zanzibar's facilities, the facilities were gladly turned over to that organization.

Secondly, Mr. Crisp commented that he would like for Tri-Sigma to continue to manage Zanzibar, but it is the students who want Zanzibar to be taken away from Tri-Sigma and given to this new management team. As a Student Government Senator, Hall Council representative, an All Residence Hall Council representative, and a student myself, I find it most unusual that I did not know about the students wanting this. Nevertheless, it was at this point when the new management team was set up involving Tri-Sigma, Beta Rho Omicron, and anybody else who partakes in Zanzibar.

Finally, my apprehension is that other organizations will be very interested to get places on the management team board, and then do very little, yet they will still hold positions on the board. I am concerned that Zanzibar will deteriorate from an efficient, well run activity to a state of chaos and apathy — the result of having a committee.

I am very pleased that so many organizations are taking an interest in Zanzibar. However, Mr. Crisp said it best himself: Zanzibar needs one source of management. As it is now, Zanzibar has an organization who is willing to manage it, and up to present seems to be doing a good job. Why does it need any others?

Matthew S. Tighe

Editor's Reply to Letter to the Editor:

I think that you should read the Zanzibar article and realize that it is time for changes. Tri-Sigs have done a great job, but the increased interests require guidelines.

Library Claims North Hall

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

The University libraries will be consolidated and relocated into North Hall if a third report from the architect firm of Treby-Howard and Phillips shows it is economically feasible.

The first report determined the structural soundness and historical significance of North Hall. The second studied feasible uses and the third will, when available, determine the costs of each use.

According to Larry Nesbit, Library Director, until the third report is received and evaluated it will not be definite just how much the 6 million dollar amount set aside by the State General Assembly in 1985 will actually renovate. Nesbit said that the six million dollars should permit installation of elevators, sprinklers, electricity, roof repair and also include removal of the partitions. Nesbit expects to move the library into North Hall before the entire building is complete. The six million dollars should only complete the first two floors. Nesbit expects the total cost to be near 12 million dollars when completed.

Eventually, upper Alumni Hall, where the main library is now located, will be converted into an expanded student union.

When renovations begin on North Hall, the floors on the south wing will be completely removed. Said Nesbit, "We will take everything out including the floors." After the remainder funds necessary for renovation are released, the library can adjust to accommodate this new space. Then according to Nesbit, "The first four floors would be the Library."

Eventually, the former dining area on the first floor of the north wing will be reserved as a grand reception area for campus receptions and formal gatherings. Said Nesbit, "This is something we do not have now." Nesbit would also like to see the main stairwell reopened that has been closed since the 1930's.

Nesbit said that relocating the library system into North Hall is important. "It is the only way we are going to get a new library at Mansfield," according to Nesbit. "We are running out of space." Nesbit said that the shelves are now as close together as possible and that even with the new shelves soon to be added there is still not enough space for many new books. Nesbit said, "This is a reasonable solution, to move into North Hall."

At present, Main, Retan and Butler libraries, utilize 38,000 square feet of floor space. Nesbit hopes to eventually double that to 75,000 square feet in North Hall. According to William Yost, vice president for administration and finance, approximately 90,000 square feet of floor space is usable in North Hall. Yost said the 5th floor is tentatively reserved for administration and the 6th floor would probably be occupied.

Nesbit said that weight of the books will not be a problem because "we will be using self-supporting book stacks. Rather than reinforcing the floors 'the book stacks will support themselves' according to Nesbit. Nesbit said, "Traditionally, self-supporting book stacks are 6'5" high...so there is no wasted space." This will result in a staggering of the floors in relation to the present floors. Nesbit said, "When you go in you will be walking on the superstructure."

Nesbit said the earliest possible time to complete the project and to relocate the library into North Hall would be five years, provided that the state would release the funds within the month. However, Nesbit said that 10 years is not out of the question.

Before the final plans can be made, Nesbit said that a two year dialogue process will occur "to finalize what the campus wants the library to be" and also for the architects to plan where everything should go. Students and faculty will be involved, the library advisee committee will be expanded and probably there will be SGA representatives.

Baseball Pre-Season Outlook

Many of the talented high school baseball players in the New York area are now playing their college ball in-state. Successful baseball programs like Ithaca and LeMoyne attract many quality players from the southern tier of New York, but at least three young men are honing their skills in another quality program south of the border.

Mansfield University currently boasts a pitching staff with three such athletes. Scott Jeffery of Hornell, and Duane Thomas and John Wood, both former Corning West players, currently make up one-fourth of the Mountaineers pitching staff. Jeffery in particular has opened coach Harry Hillson's eyes, and will be in the starting rotation. The 6'2" junior is only one of two upperclassmen on one of the youngest staffs in the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference. "Scott is a positive influence on the squad, not only because of his ability, but also because of his leadership qualities," said Hillson. Jeffery will split his time between second base and pitching, and the hard work he puts in is contagious.

John Wood is a sophomore who spent his first year at Mansfield concentrating on football. After breaking into the starting lineup this year as a receiver, John is now turning his talents to baseball for the first time since leaving Corning West. "John has a lot of potential to contribute to this club. He has a strong arm, and a lot of pop on his fastball," according to Hillson.

Duane Thomas rounds out the New York trio. The two time All-S.T.C. selection at Corning West was very impressive in the fall season. His role was mainly in middle relief, and in six innings of work, Thomas was flawless, allowing no runs scored. Hillson cites Duane's control as his main asset. "The fielders love playing behind Duane because they know he's always around the plate."

If pre-season workouts are any indication, these three right handers will make a big impact on the 1987 season, and the southern tier of New York will hear a lot more about baseball Mountaineer style.

MU Baseball Gearing Up For Florida Tour

The Mansfield University baseball team will begin a new era on March 7th, when the Mounties start a two week southern swing with a nine day stay in Sanford, Florida. First year head coach Harry Hillson is optimistic about the '87 edition of a program that boasts eighteen winning seasons out of the past twenty. "We're inexperienced, especially in the pitching staff, but I'm sure the senior leadership will help the younger players with their confidence." The leadership Hillson is talking about lies in the teams' captains, seniors Jim Littlejohn and T.R. Royal.

Littlejohn leads a pitching staff in which ten of the twelve hurlers are underclassmen. In the '86 season, the Lakewood, New York native was second in appearances for starters, had a 3-3 record, and boasted an

E.R.A. of just over 4.00 to lead the starting pitchers. After early season arm problems in the fall, the 6'1" right-hander finished strong with three complete games, including a ten strike-out effort on the road. Joining Littlejohn in the starting rotation is junior Scott Jeffery. Jeffery was the most impressive pitcher for the Mounties in the fall. "If not for Scott Jeffery, it could have been a long fall," Hillson added, referring to MU's 10-8 fall campaign. Jeffery exemplifies the team's new work ethic, as the 6'2" hurler from Hornell, New York splits his time between the mound and second base. Hillson appreciates versatility and hard work.

After Littlejohn and Jeffery, Hillson sees the rotation as wide open, and will need some of the youngsters to pick up the slack. When the Mounties need relief they call on right hander Bob Foulke. As a freshman in 1985-86, Foulke posted a 2-0 record with two saves in 13 appearances. In the fall, the 5'10" sophomore from Bethlehem, Pa. continued his strong effort with two saves and two wins.

When it comes to offense, Mansfield will have plenty of power, speed, and balance throughout the lineup. Led by senior left-fielder T.R. Royal, the hitting attack is solid. Royal, a .333 hitter one season ago, led the team in hitting this fall with a .500 average. The 5'10" Syracuse native also led the team in runs, hits, RBI's and doubles. Getting the ball rolling is the speedy leadoff hitter, Pete Cook. "Pete is the fastest person on the squad, and when he gets on its tough to keep us from scoring," Hillson said. Two other power hitters to note are junior right-fielder Jeff Evans, and Lackawanna Junior College transfer, Scott Colombo. Hitting in the middle of the lineup, the pair combined for six homers, 30 RBI's and 25 runs scored in the fall. Offsetting the power from the right side of the plate will be two lefty swingers, freshman first-baseman Jerry Waldron, from Wanaque, New Jersey, and a sophomore Shippensburg transfer, Pat Cassidy. Returning behind the plate is last season's starter, Kevin Pomian, and the catching corps is bolstered by Colombo and Cassidy, who also play third base and first-base, respectively.

Overall, the catchers will have their hands full with the young pitching staff, but if that staff comes around as expected, the Mountaineers and rookie skipper Harry Hillson could be headed for another successful campaign.

MU Baseball Gearing Up For Florida Tour

The Mansfield University baseball team will begin a new era on March 7th, when the Mounties start a two week southern swing with a nine day stay in Sanford, Florida. First year head coach Harry Hillson is optimistic about the '87 edition of a program that boasts eighteen winning seasons out of the past twenty. "We're inexperienced, especially in the pitching staff, but I'm sure the senior leadership will help the younger players with their confidence." The leadership Hillson is talking about lies in the teams' captains, seniors Jim Littlejohn and T.R. Royal.

Littlejohn leads a pitching staff in which ten of the twelve hurlers are underclassmen. In the '86 season, the Lakewood, New York native was second in appearances for starters, had a 3-3 record, and boasted an

E.R.A. of just over 4.00 to lead the starting pitchers. After early season arm problems in the fall, the 6'1" right-hander finished strong with three complete games, including a ten strike-out effort on the road. Joining Littlejohn in the starting rotation is junior Scott Jeffery. Jeffery was the most impressive pitcher for the Mounties in the fall. "If not for Scott Jeffery, it could have been a long fall," Hillson added, referring to MU's 10-8 fall campaign. Jeffery exemplifies the team's new work ethic, as the 6'2" hurler from Hornell, New York splits his time between the mound and second base. Hillson appreciates versatility and hard work.

After Littlejohn and Jeffery, Hillson sees the rotation as wide open, and will need some of the youngsters to pick up the slack. When the Mounties need relief they call on right hander Bob Foulke. As a freshman in 1985-86, Foulke posted a 2-0 record with two saves in 13 appearances. In the fall, the 5'10" sophomore from Bethlehem, Pa. continued his strong effort with two saves and two wins.

When it comes to offense, Mansfield will have plenty of power, speed, and balance throughout the lineup. Led by senior left-fielder T.R. Royal, the hitting attack is solid. Royal, a .333 hitter one season ago, led the team in hitting this fall with a .500 average. The 5'10" Syracuse native also led the team in runs, hits, RBI's and doubles. Getting the ball rolling is the speedy leadoff hitter, Pete Cook. "Pete is the fastest person on the squad, and when he gets on its tough to keep us from scoring," Hillson said. Two other power hitters to note are junior right-fielder Jeff Evans, and Lackawanna Junior College transfer, Scott Colombo. Hitting in the middle of the lineup, the pair combined for six homers, 30 RBI's and 25 runs scored in the fall. Offsetting the power from the right side of the plate will be two lefty swingers, freshman first-baseman Jerry Waldron, from Wanaque, New Jersey, and a sophomore Shippensburg transfer, Pat Cassidy. Returning behind the plate is last season's starter, Kevin Pomian, and the catching corps is bolstered by Colombo and Cassidy, who also play third base and first-base, respectively.

Overall, the catchers will have their hands full with the young pitching staff, but if that staff comes around as expected, the Mountaineers and rookie skipper Harry Hillson could be headed for another successful campaign.

Wet or Dry?

by Matthew Wood
Staff Reporter

For the second time since 1981, Mansfield residents will be answering the controversial and sensitive question, "Do you favor the granting of liquor licenses for the sale of liquor in the borough of Mansfield?"

This wet-dry referendum will be placed on the ballot during the May 19 primary election as a result of a petition filed earlier this year with the Tioga County Board of Elections. The petition contained 151 signatures of borough residents, surpassing the minimum 137 signatures required.

According to reports published earlier by the local media, the wet-dry issue was brought to bear once more through the efforts of Mansfield University professor Bernie Sabol, health and physical education instructor.

Sabol could not be reached for comment. However, Sabol was quoted in the Elmira Star-Gazette, as having said that the referendum will be "an opportunity I can give the tax payers, the 12-month residents who pick up the bill, to say whether they want (liquor licenses) or not."

As a result of voting in 1981, a referendum became effective allowing the sale of alcohol in the borough. Presently there are two vendors operating with liquor licenses in the borough — Pumpnickels Restaurant and Marks' Brothers Restaurant.

Scott Bixby, owner of Marks' Brothers Restaurant said of the wet-dry issue, "I provide a service desired by my clientele, most of whom are borough residents. I also provide jobs for both residents and students."

According to Bixby, student employment usually accounts for about 50% of his overall payroll.

When asked whether the student vote will have an affect on the out-

Sakharov Named as Key Semester Speaker

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

On April 30, Dr. Vladimir Sakharov will appear in Straughn Auditorium at 8 p.m. Sakharov, originally a KGB agent, was a key soviet defector and is considered an expert on USSR policy objectives and intelligence gathering.

Dr. Sakharov will be speaking on "The Explosive Middle East in the context of Soviet-American Rivalry." It was in the Middle East that Sakharov served as a double agent for the United States. There, he provided details of the Middle East terrorist network and specific operations aimed at the United States.

Dr. Sakharov is also the author of the highly acclaimed book High Treason, his life story. In his book, Sakharov describes his early life as son of a KGB courier who personally served Stalin. He also describes how he narrowly escaped revenge of the KGB in 1977 when he defected to the west.

Dr. Sakharov is now a U.S. citizen and has gained a national reputation as an accurate forecaster of Soviet and global events.

The appearance of Dr. Sakharov is made possible by a joint committee consisting of the Mansfield Activities Council forum committee and the Honors program.

DR. VLADIMIR N. SAKHAROV

come, Bixby said, "I am aware of support from both residents and students. The students would definitely have an impact on the referendum if they register and turn out to vote."

"Whether they would be inclined to vote wet or dry is anyone's guess," he continued.

This year the election date, May 19, happens to fall two days after the May 17 M.U. graduation. Noting this, Bixby said that, "the legislature has provided anyone registered in the county wishing to vote with the opportunity to vote by means of an absentee ballot. Any citizen in his or her municipality who knowingly will be away and cares enough to vote on the issue will probably utilize the absentee ballot."

Bixby said that a dry vote would have a profound effect on his business. "Since about 45% of my business is generated from the sale of alcoholic beverages, I would say it would have at least a 50% decrease in my total revenue, which in turn would decrease my number of employees proportionately," said Bixby.

Sheryl Vogler, Director of Food

Sales for Mansfield Foods, parent company of Pumpnickels Restaurant, said that Pumpnickels' sale of alcohol is not adding to the controversy. "We don't even have a bar. Our sale of alcohol is just to compliment our dinner meals," she said.

This is the third time the voters will be asked this question. In 1973 a similar referendum failed, but was voted on again in 1981, and passed. May 19 will provide voters another chance to vote on this controversial issue.

Will Your Vote Count?

by Matthew Wood
Staff Reporter

The Mansfield University student vote in the May 19, 1987 primary election can surely make a difference.

Last year Mansfield township had 1,166 registered voters. Mansfield University enrollment is approximately double that figure. Considering this fact it is easy to see that the students can have a lot of influence in the outcome of the election. The problem is the students will not be here, since graduation is May 17, two days before the election. There is however a way to overcome this problem and that is by utilizing an absentee ballot.

The procedure to cast an absentee ballot:

(1) You have to register by April 20th.

(2) After you have registered, you can write or call the Voters Registration office in Wellsboro, Pa. and request an absentee ballot application, which will be mailed to you. The phone number is (717) 724-1906 extension 230. The address: Tioga County Board of Election, Tioga County Court House, Wellsboro, PA 16901.

(3) Fill out the application and mail it to the above address.

(4) You will receive your absentee ballot approximately one week before the election.

(5) Your ballot must be received by May 15th at the courthouse.

Here is a list of some offices that will be on the ballot, including a referendum*:

four councilmen
one assessor
three county commissioners three county auditors
one District Justice
one District Attorney
one county coroner

* whether or not the sale of alcohol should continue in the Mansfield Boro.

The Mansfield University students should become more active in the election as it will create an awareness on the part of people running for these offices. After all, students live in the community for at least 9 months of the year.

To make it easier to register there will be a table set up in lower Manser, April 6th through April 10th.

Make your vote count. Be sure to register and vote!!

Magician Saws Student in Half — Audience Mystified

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

On Tuesday, March 24, Mansfield University students were mystified by nationally renowned magician and comedian, Bob Garner. As part of his evening performance, Garner sawed a female student in half with an electric saw. Yet somehow, the student was able to walk away apparently unharmed.

Garner sawed the student in half as a highlight to his evening performance. During his one hour show, Garner also performed with magical rings, marked dollar bills, a live bird and numerous bananas.

The show took place in North Manser at 8 p.m. with over 125 people in attendance.

Many members of the audience were brought up on stage to assist and to witness Garner's magic close up. Audience participation was also encouraged by loud "Oo's" and "Ah's" which Garner requested during the performance.

He also successfully read the minds of three persons in the audience. Garner revealed that he had written the words Daniel, St. Louis and "seven of hearts" on a chalkboard just as the three members of the audience had said.

Earlier, during dinner at Manser Hall, Garner went from table to table performing his magical talents close up. Students watched as coins disappeared under a clear glass, only to reappear under the table. Garner also used everyday items from Mansfield students in his act. The magician borrowed a jacket and a cigarette from two unsuspecting students and then proceeded to burn a hole in the jacket. Nonetheless, with students only a few feet away, Garner restored the coat to its original condition. Students were also treated to numerous card tricks during Garner's performances.

Student responses both at dinner and during the evening performance were very good. Laughter and excitement characterized Garner's entertaining performance.

Garner took the opportunity during his performance to thank the Mansfield Activities Council for sponsoring his act. According to Melissa Alwine, chairperson of the Feature Arts and Forum Committee, there is a good possibility that Garner and his magical act will return next year.

Computer Drawing Class new at MU

Want to learn how to draw on a microcomputer? You can with Mansfield University's new AutoCAD computer class.

CAD (Computer Aided Design), is a design/drafting package used to teach students design techniques and how to render drawings on the microcomputer. Clarence Krantz, chairperson of the computer science department at MU, purchased the package with a $39,000 Ben Franklin Partnership grant.

The initial package included the hardware, software, a digitizing pad, digitizer and a mouse for drawing. The digitizer is used for getting information from an existing drawing while the mouse is used to create new drawings. Since the first grant, the department has purchased 11 other computer systems for use with the program.

The class is tentatively scheduled for the fall 1987 semester at MU. It is geared toward engineers, technicians, draftsmen and managers. According to Krantz, the class would be especially helpful to students going on to school for an engineering degree.

Krantz said he also hopes to hold workshops and demonstrations of the AutoCAD system at MU.

For more information, contact Clarence Krantz, Chairperson, Computer Science Department, Mansfield University, Mansfield, PA 16933 or phone (717) 662-4552.

Can you believe you are able to do all of this for only $10? Well, it is true! You must admit, $10 is not much to relive all the memories of an important time in your life. So, don't wait a second longer, ten years from now you may not remember all of the FUN times you had during college.

Yearbooks can be ordered at the Student Affairs Office from 8 a.m. — 4 p.m. — Monday — Friday in Pinecrest.

Also, this year we are having a personal ads section which will allow a student to place a message or a PICTURE in the yearbook. Cost for the message or picture depends on the size of the item.

Best Seller Books Available

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

The Main Library has more than journals and reference books in its collection. For the past three years the library has rented a collection of best seller books written by contemporary authors. According to Dr. Larry Nesbit, Library Director, at any given time we always have 75 percent of the best sellers available. Nesbit also said that he keeps a list of the New York Times Book Review best seller list nearby the collection so that patrons can know what is currently popular.

Many of these books are in such demand that they are signed out almost continuously from the time they are received. If a particular book cannot be found on the shelves the patron may request that it be held for him or her. The library will then contact that person when the book is returned.

Each year the library receives 150 of these new books from the Baker and Taylor Company. Each month, 15 of these books are received and 15 are returned to the company. At any given time the library's collection consists of about 170 books. Of these, 80 to 100 are added to the library's permanent collection each year.

Some of the most read titles include: The Eyes of the Dragon by Stephen King, The Clan of the Cave Bear by Jean Auel, Fatherhood by Bill Cosby, The Second Oldest Profession by Phillip Knightly, Lake Wobegon Days by Garrison Keillor, For the Love of Life by Erich Fromm, Word for Word by Andrew Rooney, Skeleton Crew by Stephen King, Contact by Carl Sagan, The Color Purple by Alice Walker, Yeager, an Autobiography by Chuck Yeager, and Once Upon a Time by Gloria Vanderbilt.

This contemporary authors collection is made available by a contribution made by Tom Halloran, class of 1955.

These books are located in the Main Library reference room near the card catalog. Any student, faculty member, staff or courtesy patron is able to sign these books out for two weeks. The books may be signed out two at a time and may be renewed provided that the book has not been requested by another library patron.

WNTE New General Manager

by Lorena Beniquez

B. J. Hunsinger has been selected to the position of General Manager of WNTE.

Hunsinger, a sophomore human relations major, has been a member of the WNTE staff for over a year and a half and served as business manager prior to being appointed general manager.

"When I first started at WNTE I felt that I was a part of the organization but as time went on it started to become part of me," says Hunsinger, "and after a while I wanted to contribute more to the station."

Hunsinger has several goals for the station but his foremost goal is "to continue the station's professional sound." His other goals include going stereo and increasing the station's power so more people can be reached by the station. Though it would cost about $6 thousand to go stereo and about $30 thousand to increase wattage, Hunsinger is still optimistic that the funds can be obtained through federal grants. "Right now these things are just in the planning stages but I know that we'll be able to obtain our goals."

Hunsinger is also a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, Student Government and he is a peer counselor.

SSHE Rejects News Blackout

The organization which represents the 4600 active and retired professors at the 14 state-owned universities of the State System of Higher Education (SSHE) has rejected the SSHE's suggestion of a continued news blackout while the sides negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement.

APSCUF chief negotiator Robert Swinsick, a Mansfield University professor, said today that APSCUF would not extend the three-week blackout which expired at 6:00 p.m. March 25 because, "the SSHE let the media blackout expire without bringing an even somewhat realistic salary proposal to the bargaining table, and it is now essential that members of the APSCUF negotiations team share information with

"I am extremely disappointed that the Office of the Chancellor caused APSCUF to end the blackout," Swinsick continued. "Instead of taking advantage of the blackout, the top management of the SSHE brought yet another version of the oft-tried, never successful, lump cash payment merit awards."

APSCUF had agreed to the initial blackout in an effort to avoid the chain of events that almost precipitated a strike by SSHE faculty two years ago.

In the final hours of the last contract negotiations between APSCUF and the SSHE, the parties agreed to conduct a joint study of faculty compensation. Unfortunately, the joint study committee process functioned poorly due to minimal cooperation by SSHE personnel.

Following assurances of renewed cooperation by SSHE Chancellor

Dr. James McCormick, APSCUF and the SSHE jointly adopted data on comparable faculty salaries across the state and nation. These data, which were developed by the SSHE with the help of a nationally recognized consultant, clearly showed that faculty salaries in the SSHE lagged significantly behind the salaries of colleagues in comparable institutions.

Even though the Chancellor and his chief negotiator, Edward Kelly, presented the salary data to the SSHE Board of Governors, they largely ignored the information when it came time for the SSHE to present its salary proposals.

"The salary proposals of the SSHE do not evidence the kind of long-range financial planning that would, over time, restore a competitive salary structure for the faculty of the SSHE," Swinsick said. "Rather than proposing a salary schedule based on their own study of faculty compensation, the Chancellor and the Board of Governors have chosen not to deal with the long-standing problem of non-competitive faculty salaries in the SSHE."

"For almost four years the Chancellor has apparently failed to hear the message from the faculty—the faculty demands a quality system of public higher education," Swinsick added. "In order to realize the great potential that our universities have, they must acquire the resources to retain and attract high quality faculty, facilities, management and students."

The APSCUF and SSHE teams are scheduled to meet again on Tuesday, April 7th.

Salary Increase Rejected

A salary package proposal including 10 percent in across-the-board increases compounded over three years has been rejected by the faculty union for the 14 universities of the State System of Higher Education (SSHE). The proposal was offered at the March 25, 1987 bargaining session between the State System and the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties (APSCUF).

In addition to the 10 percent across-the-board increases, service increments were offered to senior faculty. In recognition of length of service at the salary maximum, the State System proposal would provide base salary adjustments of 2.5 percent each contract year for full professors. The adjustments would be based on service criteria of 12 years in the first contract year, eight years in the second year, and four years in the third year of the agreement. All faculty not at the maximum of their salary rank receive an automatic five percent service increment increase in addition to contract adjustments.

Additional cash bonus possibilities are included in the State System proposal and may amount to an average of 8.3 percent over the three year period. These bonuses would be for recruitment and retention purposes in highly competitive disciplines, and for outstanding academic performance.

As presented, the State System proposal could result in a full professor receiving more than $56,500 for a nine-month work schedule in the third year of the contract. Additional earning would be possible through summer school and extra workload schedules.

Edward P. Kelley, Jr., SSHE vice chancellor for employee and labor relations, believes the State System proposal was "pragmatic and reasonable."

"Given the need to stabilize tuition and the economic realities of the time, the State System's proposal balances the needs of its students and the Commonwealth taxpayer, while realizing substantial salary growth for the faculty," Kelley said.

Kelley cited several economic factors which were considered by the State System in making its proposal, including budget constraints which could yield as little as 2.7 percent in new state money, the severe reductions in available federal student grants and loans, and the current inflation rate of less than two percent.

In rejecting the State System proposal, APSCUF restated their demand for a salary package which would permit the faculty to receive increases of 22.5 to 41.8 percent over the three-year contract period. The faculty negotiating team was opposed to the State System's proposal for cash bonuses to reward faculty achievers and to attract and retain quality faculty.

"The State System will continue to bargain in good faith with APSCUF," Kelley said. "I am optimistic that the 86,000 students of the State System universities will not be burdened with increased tuition or academic schedule changes due to faculty demands at the bargaining table."

APSCUF chose not to continue the information embargo, indicating that it was not in the best interest to maintain the previously agreed upon blackout. The current State System/APSCUF labor agreement expires June 30, 1987.

EDITORIAL

For this second issue of the Flashlight I looked for something good to write about in my second editorial. There are several up and coming issues in this week's Flashlight that I think all students should be aware of. The Bloodmobile will be on campus, Wednesday, April 8th from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Laurel Lounge. They are hoping to get 170 pints. The amount of available blood in this area is at an all time low. I urge all university students, faculty and staff to give blood.

The second issue is aimed at students primarily. This issue came to me in the form of a letter to the editor. Benjamin Olney, who wrote the letter would like to have the smoking policy changed. All students who are smokers or non-smokers should read this letter and be aware. Let someone, like your R.A., Residence Life Office or the Flashlight, know your opinion on this issue.

The next issue is about a referendum coming up to be voted on in May. This referendum could change Mansfield from a wet town, sale of alcohol in borough legal, to a dry town, no sale of alcohol in the borough. University students should read the article and find out what the general consensus of the borough is.

The final issue that students should be aware of is the fact that the contract between the faculty and the state expires June 30, 1987. In this week's Flashlight there are articles from both sides of the labor dispute. The Flashlight will try to keep the student population informed. Hopefully APSCUF/SSHE will work together to avoid the strike that almost happened two years ago. In closing, I hope everyone has a good Easter break.

— Co-editor, Scott Allen

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Is Mansfield University a place of enlightenment? Literally, yes. People can light up and smoke virtually anywhere they want with total disregard of everyone else. This is a long overdue problem that is not going to go away and needs to be addressed now. I have advocated limiting smoking to residents' rooms and private enclosed offices which are occupied solely by smokers for the following reasons.

First, smoking raises costs for everyone. If smoking were limited as proposed above, insurance and cleaning costs could be reduced to the benefit of all.

Secondly, MU is not presently accessible to all. Can the person with emphysema walk MU's halls? Can the asthmatic eat in MU's cafeteria? Can the cancer patient nauseated by toxic smoke ride MU's elevators? No. Sadly, the list goes on and on. Will these people be permanently excluded?

Lastly, involuntary smoking causes disease and death among non-smokers — fact. Some would argue that my proposals violate smokers' rights. Do smokers have the right to pollute the air with toxic carcinogens to the detriment of the health and lives of non-smokers? The right of even one non-smoker to breathe non-carcinogenic air supercedes the rights of a roomful of smokers to pollute the air and endanger others. Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes phrased it best when he said, "My freedom to swing my arm stops where the other man's nose begins." When one stops to think about it, is protecting the health and lives of 70% of the population really all that radical?

I urge everyone at MU to voice support for my proposals.

Teacher Applicants

The Foreign and Domestic Teachers Organization needs teacher applicants in all fields from Kindergarten through College to fill over six hundred teaching vacancies both at home and abroad.

Since 1968, our organization has been finding vacancies and locating teachers both in foreign countries and in all fifty states. We possess hundreds of current openings and have all the information as to scholarships, grants, and fellowships.

The principle problem with first year teachers is Where To Find The Jobs!

Since college newspapers are always anxious to find positions for their graduating teachers, your paper may be interested in your teachers finding employment for the following year, and print our request for teachers.

Our information is free and comes at an opportune time when there are more teachers than teaching positions.

Should you wish additional information about our organization, you may write The National Teacher's Placement Agency, Universal Teachers, Box 5231, Portland, Oregon 97208.

We do not promise every graduate in the field of education a definite position, however, we do promise to provide them with a wide range of hundreds of current vacancy notices both at home and abroad.

We still need about 200+ teachers to fill positions in the mid-West, West and Overseas.

Study in Gymnasium/University In West Germany

Opportunities for University and High School students to study in West Germany for one or two semesters are available through OPA Student Exchange Program. OPA works exclusively with West Germany, and is quickly becoming the nation's experts on student exchange with West Germany. Qualifications for participation in the program are NOT LIMITED to students with highest grade point average. OPA believes that the most important aspects of a successful exchange student include openness, a positive attitude, eagerness to learn, social responsibility and maturity. Grade point averages are not the focal point. The 10-month academic year is priced as follows: Gymnasium (high school): 1-semester, $2,575; 2-semesters, $3,575. University of Hamburg: 1-semester, $3,075; 2-semesters, $4,075. University of Hamburg "Bonus" Program: 1-semester, $4,035; 2-semesters, $6,135. Students should apply as soon as possible.

The packages include round trip airfare, 24-hour counseling; attendance at Gymnasium or University, intensive language course upon arrival, opportunities to travel, orientation meetings, room and boarding with a German family near the school, and much more. The "Bonus" program also includes excursions, tutoring and a longer language course.

OPA encourages communication between the host family and student prior to departure from America. OPA finds that this communication creates a very positive bond between the parties, and ensures a more comfortable and shorter adjustment period upon arrival. The unique education, cultural awareness and living experiences gained by studying abroad will provide a lifetime of enrichment. Bilinguality is becoming a necessary addition to many job resumes and offers many job opportunities. Students can return to America speaking fluent German.

New Writing Program To be Instituted

by Steven P. Norman
Staff Reporter

A new writing program will be instituted at Mansfield University for all incoming students.

The program will include a curriculum writing requirement including five writing courses. Two of the required courses will be Composition I and II. The other three will be selected from a designated list of Writing Program courses which will be developed over the next four years. Eventually there will be designated writing intensive courses in each department. The total number of classes that will be designated as part of this writing program will be known in four years.

The courses in the Writing Program will involve frequent and intensive writing and will vary with the type of course, but may include essay exams, summaries, logs, abstracts, research essays, lab reports and case studies.

The program will only affect incoming freshman students entering Mansfield starting this summer and will be phased in over a four year period.

According to George Mullen, University Provost, "eventually we hope

(the writing program) will pervade the whole curriculum." Mullen added, "this program will maximize the students learning process as well as maximize the chance of learning a job."

The writing program was formerly called "writing across the curriculum."

The program will also involve extending the Learning Resource Center by increasing the number of peer tutors. This would include the extended use of writing tutors.

Faculty would be helped with developing and administering this new emphasis on writing through numerous workshops aimed at the writing process.

According to Walter Sanders, Chairperson of the English Department, the writing programs at Bucknell and Penn State University served as models. In contrast however, Mansfield will have more flexible requirements for designated Writing Program courses.

The program was developed by the Writing Council of the Academic Affairs Committee and was passed by the Faculty Senate earlier this semester.

Sakharov Comes To MU Campus

Dr. Vladimir Sakharov's life may sound like something out of James Bond but his experiences as a double agent and soviet defector are fact. On April 30 at 8 p.m. in Mansfield University's Straughn Auditorium, Sakharov will lecture on the "Explosive Middle East in the Context of Soviet-American Rivalry."

Sakharov was an intelligence operative for the KGB but his disillusionment with the U.S.S.R. made him a double agent for the United States. He was one of the first sources to provide the U.S. government with details of the Eastern terrorist network and of specific operations aimed at the U.S.

Now a U.S. citizen, Sakharov was born in Moscow. He was educated at the Prestigious Institute of International Relations as an expert on Soviet foreign policy. He holds a doctorate in international relations from the University of Southern California and is a consultant to several American and multinational companies on inter-Arab affairs, foreign economic risk management, OPEC and international law. He has written the book "High Treason," and has appeared several times on network TV.

Sakharov predicts increasing trends toward nationalism and fundamentalism. He says, "There will be a reconfiguration of relations between the Superpowers and developing countries." Sakharov believes that skyrocketing birthrates among traditionally Moslem Soviet-Asian minorities will outpace the slow growth of the Russian population and that may impact on the future of U.S.-Soviet relations.

Sakharov's visit is sponsored by the Mansfield Activities Council and the Honors Program.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Telephone Aversion

by Lorena Beniquez

I've always had an aversion to telephones and up until this semester I had been alone in my disgust. Ever since the Commonwealth phone system was replaced by Ericsson there has been a grumble erupting among the students. A grumble that seems to grow louder as graduation day nears. Since no one is allowed to graduate until they pay their phone bill, this creates a predicament for seniors. For the first time I'm glad to be a lowly sophomore.

There seems to be a few things that bother students about the new phone system. Probably the biggest issue is phone bill disbursement or lack of it. Up until now no phone bills have been sent out but the telecommunications office said they'll be out as soon as they address them — by hand.

Another common complaint about the phone system is the limited amount of services that it provides. That sounds ironic since the new system was implemented to provide more service. Credit card and collect calls can no longer be made from a dorm room. It's true that there are services offered now that we never had before, but what college kid really needs call waiting or call divert. They're nice touches but some of the other services are impossible to even utilize because of the maze of numbers that must be used.

I can't understand why the college felt that what the MJ student really needed was a high tech phone. We already have enough things to confuse us, like financial aid and pre-registering (that's a story within itself).

Far be it from me to question the university superiors but couldn't the money for the phone system have been better spent elsewhere? Perhaps the money could have been used

The CARONTAWAN, the yearbook of MU, would like you to:

- Relive the wonderful memories at MU
- Recall friends and acquaintances
- Remember the organizations you were involved with and all the fun times you had with other members
- Recollect your favorite professors

Can you believe you are able to do all of this for only $10? Well, it is true! You must admit, $10 is not much to relive all the memories of an important time in your life. So, don't wait a second longer, ten years from now you may not remember all of the FUN times you had during college.

Yearbooks can be ordered at the Student Affairs Office from 8 a.m. — 4 p.m. — Monday — Friday in Pinecrest.

Also, this year we are having a personal ads section which will allow a student to place a message or a PICTURE in the yearbook. Cost for the message or picture depends on the size of the item.

Celestial Gap Filled

It's a warm June night. You're lying on the dewy grass looking up at the stars. Your child asks you what that group of stars is above you.

You don't know? Shame!

Mansfield University can fill in this celestial gap with its final program of the season, "The Summer-time Sky," in the Strait Planetarium on campus. The show will be presented Thursday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 26 at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The program will be presented by Susan BenKinney Schwab, planetarium director. "We'll look at constellations, bright stars and planets which are visible in the sky this summer," she said.

Schwab will relate legends and stories about the constellations.

"We'll look at Bootes, the bear driver and his two greyhounds; Scorpius, the giant scorpion; and of course the hero Hercules," Schwab said.

Participants will also learn how to locate the planets and the Perseid meteor showers.

"Summer is an excellent time for the entire family to observe the sky," Schwab explained. "Everyone is more relaxed and the children don't need to worry about school the next day."

The program is free and open to the public. Families are encouraged to attend. To arrange a special showing to a group or organization, contact Schwab at the physics department, Mansfield University. Phone 717-662-4754.

The festival is being hosted by MU's chapter of the National Association of Jazz Educators (NAJE).

Friday's program begins at 12 noon when high school bands perform for clinicians Patrick Dorian, director of jazz ensembles and associate director of bands at East Stroudsburg Area High School District and Daniel Neville, MU instructor of saxophone and director of jazz ensembles. Each band will receive taped comments with 15 minute interactions with one of the clinicians.

An evening concert with the top band will be featured at 7:30 p.m. The MU Jazz Ensemble and guest artist Joe Morello will also perform. Works such as "Procrastination City" by Ray Brown, and "A Night in Tunisia" by Gillespie, among others will be performed. Guest band is the Morrisville, NY College Jazz Band.

Blood Drive a Success

Fantastic!!! "That's the only word for the response for the blooddrive held at Mansfield University on April 8th. Tom Johnston and Bob Williams did an exceptional job as drive coordinators and should be congratulated for an outstanding effort. The goal for this drive was 170-240 people came in and we collected 224. They can take great pride in the fact that they collected half of the blood needed to meet the days needs of the Northeast Region of the Red Cross," continued Alspaugh.

" * * * * Peggy Sue Got Married is a lot of things—a human comedy, a nostalgic memory, a love story—but there are times when it is just plain creepy, because it awakens such vivid memories in us. It's like visiting a cemetery where all of the people are still alive. And yet it is a comedy. Frank Capra made comedies like this, in which the humor welled up out of a deep, even sentimental, drama of human emotions. The movie stars Kathleen Turner, in a performance that must be seen to be believed. This is one of the best movies of the year."

EDITORIAL

As my last editorial there are several topics I would like to cover. The first topic I discovered while reading the Sunday papers. Several campuses around the country have installed machines that dispense condoms. On some of the campuses they have had them for many years. Recently the Surgeon General of the United States stated that condoms can prevent the spread of AIDS. Even though Mansfield is a small campus the threat of AIDS is just as great here, if not greater, due to ignorance. It's time for the University and the students to seriously think about this. How much is your health worth?

The next topic I'd like to discuss is the future of the Flashlight. Because I'm graduating this semester I'll be leaving the Flashlight. The new equipment will be here in the next week. We've gotten some new staff members lately. The future of the Flashlight looks bright.

Finally, this is to the person who stole my red and black rugby shirt and jean's jacket. I'd really like to have them back. I'm offering $50.00 to whoever returns them to me. No questions asked, I'd just like to have them back. So, if you have them and you'd like to earn 50 easy dollars, come to 325 Cedarcrest B.

So as I sign off, good luck to all the seniors, underclassmen, and to the future of the Flashlight. Have a good summer.

Book Sale April 22-24

The Mansfield University Library will hold its second annual Book Sale on April 22-24 between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. in MU's Main Library.

"There will be literally thousands of books offered," said Dr. Larry Nesbit, director of library services and instructional resources.

The selection will include natural sciences, social sciences, English literature, as well as literature in most of the foreign languages. There will also be a selection of 300-400 volumes of fiction.

To complement the sale, Larry Tucker of College Ave. Books, Ithaca, NY, will offer a large selection of inexpensive books in the Manser Hall lobby. The selections will include books on humanities, literature, criminal justice and business management and others.

"The two book sales will give the public a great opportunity to buy fiction, non-fiction and books to fit a college curriculum," said Nesbit.

All book sale proceeds will be used to purchase a larger and more varied stock of literature for the university libraries, Nesbit said.

The public is invited to attend.

Puppet Factory

"The Puppet Factory," an experienced troupe of professional puppeteers from New Freedom, Pa., will present a puppetry workshop and puppet show at Mansfield University on Thursday, April 23 in the Allen Hall Theatre.

The workshop will be staged at 1 p.m. This will be an informal discussion about performing and staging techniques with puppets.

At 7:30 p.m. the troupe will perform their latest production, "Firebird." The story begins when the Firebird, a symbol of happiness, is banished from the kingdom by the wicked magician Tzar Badzarov. The play follows the adventures of Vasilissa, a servant girl who attempts to defeat Badzarov and restore the Firebird. The production is in a modified Bunraku style.

Sponsored by the MU Fine Arts Committee, both the workshop and performance are free and open to the public.

Assemblyman Fred C. Noye, 86th District, will talk about his 12-day tour of South Africa, Thursday, April 23 at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall, 204 on the Mansfield University campus.

Noye was part of a team of six legislators from five states who visited South Africa in January at the invitation of the South African Forum. The forum is a non-profit group composed of blacks and whites.

During his visit, Noye met with officials from the South Africa Institute of Race Relations, banks, newspapers, universities, unions and members of parliament, as well as the U.S. Ambassador.

Noye, a 1968 Mansfield graduate, is the Republican Caucus chairman for a fifth term. He holds the third ranking position in the Republican Caucus.

While on campus, Noye will also meet with journalism and political science classes.

The 1:30 p.m. address is free and open to the public.

Concert Choir in Spring Concert

The Mansfield University Concert Choir will present a spring concert Sunday, May 3 at 8 p.m. in Steadman Theatre.

Under the direction of David J. Dick, professor of music, the choir is composed of 48 students selected each year through individual audition.

The choir will perform a program of secular and sacred music spanning five centuries of music history and in as many languages.

An opening group of Renaissance motets will include works by Tomaso Luigi Victoria, Peter Philips and "De Profundis," a setting of the deeply penitential Psalm 130, by Josquin des Pres. The romanticism of the 19th century will be represented with "Warum ist das Licht gegeben" by the German composer, Johannes Brahms.

A trilogy of anthems by 20th century American composers will follow. They will include "Gloria in Excelsis" by John Ness Beck, the late Samuel Barber's "Easter Chorale," and "Psalm 90" by Charles Ives.

Following intermission, the choir will sing selections such as "Fanfare For Peace," by Virgil Thomson, "Advance Democracy," by Benjamin Britten, and "The Harp That Once Thro' Tara's Halls" by Hindemith, among others.

Concluding the program will be "Banquet Fugue," by John Rutter, Hoagy Carmichael's popular "Skylark" and the Swedish folk song "Domaradansen," arranged by Bengt Hallberg, among others.

The concert is sponsored in part by the MU student government association. It is free and open to the public.

MU Hurler Named Player of the Week

Mansfield University pitcher Scott Jeffery has been named Co-Player of the Week for the week of March 28 to April 3 in the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference. Jeffery hurled a 5 hitter at Shippensburg, and gave up only 3 hits at East Stroudsburg, while hitting .318 with 3 home runs. Presently, the Mountaineers are 10-15 overall and 3-1 in the conference.

Other key performers for the Mounties include senior captain Tom Royal who has hit in 23 of 25 games this season for a team leading .429 batting average. Catcher Kevin Pomian is hitting .386 with 5 home runs and 15 RBI's, while junior outfielder Pete Cook is quickly approaching the single season stolen base record with 15. Overall, the Mountaineers are second in the league with a .301 batting average and 28 home runs.

The weather took its toll on last week's schedule, as the Mounties were rained out against Penn State and Millersville. Millersville has been rescheduled for Sunday, April 26 at 1:00 pm at Mansfield's Shaute Field. Mansfield will host Kutztown this Saturday at 1:00 pm. Next week, the Mounties travel to Binghamton on Monday, April 13, and return home to host Shippensburg on Tuesday and East Stroudsburg on Thursday.

Mountie Basketballer Honored

Brian White

Mansfield University senior Brian White continues to reap honors from the 1986-87 basketball season. The 6'6" forward from Wendell, N.C. was a first team selection to the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Eastern Division All-Star Team, after leading the conference in rebounding with 13.2 per game. White set a new school record with 25 boards against Kutztown, and became only the second Mansfield athlete to be named the MU Athlete of the Year for the second consecutive year.

To top off those honors, White was recently named to the 1987 National Basketball Coaches Association Division II East District First Team. White was one of four PSAC players to make the All-District team. The regional selections are now under consideration for the NABC All-American Team.

MU to Sponsor Football Clinic for Area Youth

The Mansfield University varsity football team will sponsor a youth football clinic on April 25, 1987 in Decker Gymnasium. The clinic, which runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., is open to all youth aged 7-14, and will feature instruction and hands-on experience in weight training, aerobic conditioning and Russian plyometrics, and drills in passing, receiving, tackling and blocking.

According to head coach Tom El-sasser, the clinic is a first at MU. "We felt it would help our players as much as the young players in the area. We'll be in the middle of our spring practice schedule, and the participants will get a good idea of what college football is all about, as well as learning fundamental techniques in a variety of areas." Following instruction in the gymnasium, participants will get a bird's eye view of varsity football practice from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. "We feel it's important for the participants to see the same fundamentals and drills they've learned in use by our team."

In all, the clinic promises to be a fun and informative day for all. Parents are welcome to attend. For further information, contact the Mansfield University football office at (717) 662-4861.

MU Badminton Club Holds First

On Saturday, April 11, the Mansfield University Badminton Club successfully defended its 1986 championship by placing first in the 1987 Keystone-Empire Collegiate Badminton Conference championship tournament.

The championship came down to a struggle between a strong club from Lock Haven University and the Mansfield club. Lock Haven captured first places in men's and women's singles. Mansfield responded with firsts in men's doubles (Manish Patel and Jason L.), women's doubles (Sherri Byam and Dolly Crawford), and, mixed doubles (Arun Patel and Tami Webster). Also placing for the Mansfield club were Manish Patel (2nd men's singles), Jason L. (4th men's singles), Tami Webster (2nd women's singles), Sherri Byam (3rd women's singles), Steve Brion and Corby Woodling (4th men's doubles), Yoshie Dozono and Kathy Nogle (2nd women's doubles), and, S. K. Attygalle and Dolly Crawford (3rd mixed doubles).

Coach Darby explained that it was the greater tournament experience and the overall depth of the Mansfield club which meant the difference.

Anyone interested in joining the team should contact Dr. David Darby, Belknap.

Students Urged to Apply for Private Financial Aid; New Scholarship Announced

Students in need of supplemental financial aid for college were urged recently to write for a free copy of "How to Play Grantsmanship," distributed by The Scholarship Bank. Additionally, each booklet will be accompanied by an application for a five hundred dollar scholarship.

According to the director of this nationwide non-profit foundation, over half a billion dollars is available to high school and college students, and in many cases can cover up to twenty-five percent of a student's academic year expenses. These funds are contributed by corporations, trade, civic and non-profit foundations and are normally awarded on non-traditional basis such as academic merit, anticipated college major, geographic preferences, and even on the student's ability to consider a special research project or entering a contest. Parental factors, such as union, employer or past military experience, are also considered by some donors.

The Scholarship Bank works with financial aids offices in high schools and colleges around the country to distribute information on the over 5,000 different programs in its computer bank. Each student receives a personalized print-out based on his or her individual needs. Each scholarship has a value of at least one thousand dollars, and many are renewable yearly. According to the director, graduate level grants with awards in excess of $25,000 are also available. All applicants receive up to 65 different aid sources.

High school and college students should send a stamped, business-sized self-addressed envelope to: The Scholarship Bank, 4626 N. Grand, Covina, CA 91724.

Available on disk or in a printed version, JOBLINK offers full-time, salaried job opportunities as well as seasonal, volunteer, and intern positions with public agencies, colleges and universities, and businesses.

For a nominal fee, job seekers can use their computers to view hundreds of detailed job descriptions and openings.

All JOBLINK subscribers receive quarterly updates to ensure current listings.

Job advertisers are invited to submit announcements of openings for salaried positions free of charge.

JOBLINK also welcomes listings for volunteer, non-paid positions, but, because of the tremendous demand for this service, charges a $25 fee to cover operating expenses.

Currently used on nearly 100 campuses nationwide, including Harvard University, Texas A&M, and Clemson University, JOBLINK is also being used by students, advisors, and placements offices to explore and compare career opportunities in different disciplines.
